Newsletter September 2023 – 7

The schools have started again and so have the normal routines of most everyone. Also for the workmen who are busy in several different apartments. Unfortunately, a bit of noise can't be avoided, but luckily it is not usually for very long.

- On 4 October floor mats will be placed at the entry to the emergency staircases. Of course, it is not just a matter of placing them, but also of the care taken by the users to not bring in any filth.
- In relation to the possible installation of new window panes on the backside of the building, ABK Bouw would like to first inspect the windows. Therefore, every resident will receive a letter from them for an appointment. The first letters have already been distributed in Building 'A'.
- Information boards for the newsletters and notices have also been hung in the emergency staircases. Now you can read the information boards in the lifts, the central hall, the entry to the storage units and the emergency staircases. In case you want your own copy, you can contact your Complex Commission.
- Due to the illegal use of electric outlets in the storage units and the increasing number of electric bicycles, the direction is looking into the possibility of installing grounded outlets in the units or other possible solutions. Fire safety is a very important issue to which there is no easy solution. This issue will be brought up in the next Annual General Meeting in 2024.

On 17 October there will be a combined meeting of the direction, the complex commissions and the Board of Commissioners.
